Pratt Institute’s mission is to educate students to become creative, responsible professionals who will contribute fully to society. The Institute upholds values and standards that support that mission and holds high expectations regarding the conduct of students, faculty, staff, and administrators. Above all, we respect one another and behave in ways that advance the free association of people and ideas. We cherish the diversity represented by our people and their disparate values and ideas. At the same time, we expect each student, faculty, or staff member to value and uphold the community standards essential to the pursuit of academic excellence and social responsibility.

The health, safety, and well-being of all members of the Pratt Institute community are the Institute’s primary concerns. In furtherance of the mission of Pratt Institute, the Institute is committed to maintaining a community free from all forms of sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct. In accordance with Title IX, the Institute does not discriminate on the basis of sex, gender, or gender identity or expression in its education programs and activities. Under Title IX, discrimination on the basis of sex includes sexual harassment and sexual violence.

The campus directory contains contact information for all Pratt offices, including email, location, and phone number. The directory also contains contact information and details about faculty and staff members, including email, title, department, location, phone, and biography.
