

PRATT INSTITUTE

SCULPTURE PARK GUIDE

Santiago Calatrava, S7, 2011

PRATT INSTITUTE
200 WILLOUGHBY AVENUE
BROOKLYN, NY 11205

Pratt

Pratt Institute's Sculpture Park stretches across the Institute's 25-acre landscaped grounds and is surrounded by historic buildings that provide an excellent context for more than 60 sculptures on view. As part of an ever-evolving learning facility, the Sculpture Park gives creative expression to the viewers' experience as members of a public society, relating individual works of public art to the educational, cultural, historical, social, and political dimensions in all its complexity. Deepening a sense of place, the Sculpture Park stimulates diverse audience responses, encourages questioning and curiosity, and creates lively gathering spots for campus users. As such, the Sculpture Park extends and is a reflection of the Institute's core educational and research missions.
