Application process for Marc Rosen Scholarship for Packaging by Design I

APPLICATION

The Marc Rosen Scholarship for Packaging by Design I supports scholars studying in the MS in Packaging, Identities and System Design within the School of Design who have a demonstrated interest in Packaging Design excellence. Applicants who have already developed a body of work on the future of Packaging Design will be given preference.

The Marc Rosen Scholarship for Packaging by Design provides full tuition. This scholarship is awarded to a first-year graduate student and will be renewed for a second year for recipients in good academic standing. Scholarships are based on full-time status and are awarded for a maximum of two years.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Please complete and email this form to Gaia Hwang, Chairperson of Graduate Communications Design, at gscagnet@pratt.edu Applicants will be considered and will be notified of their application status. It will be added to your existing application if you have already applied or have been accepted.

CRITERIA AND GUIDELINES

The Scholarship will be awarded to one applicant per academic year who meets the following requirements:

- Graduate student
- MS in Packaging, Identities and System Design
- Demonstrated academic merit
- The applicant should have a demonstrated interest in excellence and innovative packaging design. Preference will be granted to applicants that have already developed a body of work on packaging design
- Priority will be given to applicants with financial needs
- The scholarship will be awarded without regard to sex, race, age, creed, color, national or ethnic origin, marital status, or disability.

SCHOLARSHIP REQUIREMENTS

As part of Pratt's educational mission, each Fellow will be required to participate in an outreach activity to share their project, work, or expertise with Marc Rosen, the Graduate Communications Design department, and in public venues, including but not limited to an onsite or virtual program, blog post, collections tour, panel discussion, at Pratt's discretion.

KEY DATES

Call for applications: Fall 2022 Application deadline: March 27, 2023 Applicant notification: May 1, 2023

	Yes No
aging design excellence?	Yes No
ging design?	Yes No

What do you think is the future of Packaging Design?

Are you a member of a traditionally underserved and/or previously underrepresented community?

If yes, how would you describe it?

Please complete and email this form to Gaia Hwang, Chairperson of Graduate Communications Design, at gscagnet@pratt.edu

